WEEKLY FINANCIAL NEWS

Financing			Market Commentary
	RATE	APR	The housing market is even more frozen over than it was last year, and more data is piling up to prove it. New home sales dropped sharply in May, the U.S. Census Bureau reported, showing that the U.S. housing market is at an impasse as buyer's hesitate and sellers struggle to offload their homes. Sales of new single-family houses fell 13.7% month-over-month, from 722,000 in April to a seasonally adjusted annual pace of 623,000 in May. The May number is 6.3% lower year-over-year. The decline in sales was led by a sharp slowdown in the South. Sales in the region plunged 15.5% year-over-year and 21% from the previous month. The Northeast was the only region that saw an increase in new home sales. Americans aren't buying homes, but it's not because supply is constrained like it was in 2024. On the contrary, housing supply has picked up. The May report showed that there were roughly 507,000 new houses available for sale. At May's sales pace, it would take 9.8 months to clear the supply of housing. Anything higher than six months of supply typically indicates a buyer's market - a notable shift from the sellers market that led to rapidly appreciating home prices post pandemic. In the South, new home construction actually hit its higher levels since 1971 last month, with 311,000 new units on the market thanks to increased construction and decreased sales. WEEKLY FINANCIAL NEWS

Financing			Market Commentary
CONV	RATE	APR	The housing market is even more frozen over than it was last year, and more data is piling up to prove it. New home sales dropped sharply in May, the U.S. Census Bureau reported, showing that the U.S. housing market is at an impasse as buyer's hesitate and sellers struggle to offload their homes. Sales of new single-family houses fell 13.7% month-over-month, from 722,000 in April to a seasonally adjusted annual pace of 623,000 in May. The May number is 6.3% lower year-over-year. The decline in sales was led by a sharp slowdown in the South. Sales in the region plunged 15.5% year-over-year and 21% from the previous month. The Northeast was the only region that saw an increase in new home sales. Americans aren't buying homes, but it's not because supply is constrained like it was in 2024. On the contrary, housing supply has picked up. The May report showed that there were roughly 507,000 new houses available for sale. At May's sales pace, it would take 9.8 months to clear the supply of housing. Anything higher than six months of supply typically indicates a buyer's market - a notable shift from the sellers market that led to rapidly appreciating home prices post pandemic. In the South, new home construction actually hit its higher levels since 1971 last month, with 311,000 new units on the market thanks to increased construction and decreased sales. WEEKLY FINANCIAL NEWS

Financing			Market Commentary
CONV	RATE 6.25%	APR 6.46%	The housing market is even more frozen over than it was last year, and more data is piling up to prove it. New home sales dropped sharply in May, the U.S. Census Bureau reported, showing that the U.S. housing market is at an impasse as buyer's hesitate and sellers struggle to offload their homes. Sales of new single-family houses fell 13.7% month-over-month, from 722,000 in April to a seasonally adjusted annual pace of 623,000 in May. The May number is 6.3% lower year-over-year. The decline in sales was led by a sharp slowdown in the South. Sales in the region plunged 15.5% year-over-year and 21% from the previous month. The Northeast was the only region that saw an increase in new home sales. Americans aren't buying homes, but it's not because supply is constrained like it was in 2024. On the contrary, housing supply has picked up. The May report showed that there were roughly 507,000 new houses available for sale. At May's sales pace, it would take 9.8 months to clear the supply of housing. Anything higher than six months of supply typically indicates a buyer's market - a notable shift from the sellers market that led to rapidly appreciating home prices post pandemic. In the South, new home construction actually hit its higher levels since 1971 last month, with 311,000 new units on the market thanks to increased construction and decreased sales.
